

Plant in Wuxi was visited by prime minister
(Leverkusener Anzeiger, July 3, 2007)

During his visit to the LAXESS plant in Wuxi, the prime minister of the People's Republic of China, Wen Jiabao, informed himself about on-the-job vocational training, risk analysis and environmental aspects. The facility has repeatedly received awards for its environmentally responsible production. Dr. Axel C. Heitmann, LANXESS AG Chairman of the Management Board, underscored that the visit by the Chinese prime minister was a great honor. LANXESS conducts research and produces leather chemicals and plastics in Wuxi. This fall, a second production line of plastics is to begin operation, which is to lead to a doubling of capacity.
